Pardee announces new board member

(Hendersonville, N.C.) Pardee Hospital recently announced the addition of Jack Summey to its Board of Directors.

Summey is a local business owner and mechanical contractor, incorporating his business Summey Plumbing & Heating, Inc. in 1975. He is a charter member and past director of the Hendersonville Home Builders Association, and a charter member and past president of the Henderson County Mechanical and Electrical Association. Summey is a governor appointee and past chairman of the State Board of Examiners of Plumbing, Heating and Fire Sprinkler Contractors as well as a past board member of the Hendersonville Country Club and Mills River appointee to the Henderson County Transportation Advisory Committee.

Summey resides in Henderson County with his wife, Penny. He is the proud father of two daughters and has four grandchildren in Dallas and Grand Prairie, Texas.

Pardee Hospital is a not-for-profit community hospital founded in 1953. The main hospital is licensed for 222 acute care beds and is the second largest employer in Henderson County. The hospital has several locations separate from the main campus, including an adult day services center, a health education center in the Blue Ridge Mall, home care services, a rehab and wellness center, a midwifery program, various family and internal medicine practices, and an urgent care facility.
