Pardee presents Shooting Star Awards

(Hendersonville, N.C.) Pardee Hospital presented Shooting Star awards in March to Angela Hollingsworth, R.N., of 1 West and Debbie Gibbs, L.P.N., of 1 West.

The Shooting Star Award recognizes Pardee associates who consistently go above and beyond in their jobs and serve as role models to their fellow associates. Winners are nominated by their co-workers to receive the award.

Hollingsworth's co-workers say she consistently shows up for work with a positive attitude and a smile for everyone. They say her caring nature and compassion are unsurpassed as recognized by the many cards and letters she receives from patients and families. She is extremely organized and instructs new graduate nurses and newly hired nurses to 1 West. Hollingsworth recently became an ACLS Instructor, and holds two national certifications in PCCN – Progressive Critical Care Nursing and Med-Surg.

Gibb's co-workers say that her positive attitude, tireless work ethic and helpful nature are commendable. She has an excellent bedside manner and is a true team player. They say Gibbs is very knowledgeable and always willing to help out when and wherever needed and that her vast experience and knowledge make her an invaluable resource.

Pardee Hospital is a not-for-profit community hospital founded in 1953. The main hospital is licensed for 222 acute care beds and is the second largest employer in Henderson County. The hospital has several locations separate from the main campus, including an adult day services center, a health education center in the Blue Ridge Mall, home care services, a rehab and wellness center, a midwifery program, various family and internal medicine practices, and an urgent care facility.
